

Week 5 - Networking Skills Guide

Reminder

All Interns are required to participate in our Networking Skills Assignment. If you do not participate you will be removed from the internship and your access to our content will be revoked.

You must complete the following tasks and submit them in the Google Form:

- Create a LinkedIn OR Twitter post and submit any one link
- Connect with 5 interns on LinkedIn
- Follow 5 interns on Twitter
- Connect and follow a Technical Page/Institute/Personality shared by us below.

Note: Interns residing in Nigeria can submit Facebook links instead of twitter links.

There are a total of 4 tasks

5 Connections and Follows

Linkedin

Step 1	Start by signing into Linkedin and going to “My Network.” Then locate “Connections”	 The screenshot shows the LinkedIn homepage with the 'My Network' tab selected. The main area displays a summary of the user's network, including a 'Connections' count of 190 and a 'Follows' count of 190. A red box highlights the 'Connections' button under 'Manage my network'. Another red box highlights the 'My Network' tab in the top navigation bar.
--------	---	--

Step 2	On the same page, scroll down until you see a section called “People you may know from Virtually Testing Foundation.” To the right, click “See all.” Note: If you do not see this section you may have not updated your LinkedIn profile properly. If this is the case, please go back to the week one assignment and properly update your profile. If you still can not find this section after scrolling, check out Virtually Testing’s main page and you may be able to find more people to connect to there.	The screenshot shows the LinkedIn interface with the 'My Network' tab selected. A red arrow points downwards towards the 'People you may know' section. This section contains a list of profiles with small thumbnail images. Below this list, a red box highlights the text 'People you may know from Virtually Testing Foundation' and an arrow points to the 'See all' button, which is also highlighted with a red box.

Learn, Test, and Share!

Step 3

Now go ahead and start making connections with your fellow interns. Once you have added 5 connections, exit out of the window.

People you may know from Virtually Testing Foundation

Step 4	Scroll up to where it says “pending invitations,” or in my case “no pending invitations” and select “manage” on the right side.	 No pending invitations Manage See all People you may know from Virtually Testing Foundation
Step 5	Lastly, select “sent” and take a look at the number of people you have sent invitations to. The sent invitations should be at least 5.	 Search Home My Network Jobs Messaging Notifications Me MIT Sloan Online Program - Deadline approaching to join the Mastering Design Thinking online program. Ad Promoted Sell in bulk Learn more on the work Want to SI Learn about Manage invitations Received Sent People (25) Pages (0) Events (0)

Twitter

Step 1	Start by signing into Twitter. On the home page, click on your face icon next to “What’s happening?”
Step 2	Navigate to the right-hand side and select “Search Twitter”. In the search bar type in #VTFOct21 During the first week, it may be hard to find people as the people may not have created their posts yet. If this happens, search for VTFoundation and try to follow interns who have followed VTFoundation.

Learn, Test, and Share!

Step 3	Hover over the intern's name and click "follow" on the pop-up window. Then move on to the next intern. Do this 5 times with different interns. I know this is not fun, but growing your circle will be very helpful for you.	The screenshot shows a Twitter profile for Sahil Mahalle (@sahil_mahalle). A red box highlights his name 'Sahil Mahalle'. A red arrow points from this box to a 'Follow' button inside a pop-up window. Another red box highlights the 'Follow' button, and a red arrow points from it to a 'Select follow' button. At the bottom right of the screen, there is a blue box containing the text 'VIRTUALLY TESTING FOUNDATION'.
Step 4	Once you are done following 5 other interns, click the home button on the left.	The screenshot shows the Twitter mobile interface. On the left is a sidebar with navigation icons: Home, Direct messages, Notifications, Mentions, Lists, and More. The main area is the 'Home' feed, which includes a post by 'What's happening?' and several tweets from other users. A red box highlights the 'Home' icon in the sidebar.

[Optional if you are creating on twitter]

Step 1.a

Copy this template

Make a copy of this template. Do not request edit access.

Rename the copy to Week_#_NetworkPost where # is the week number.

Step 1.b	Once you have the template in your drive make changes for the points and images as you feel.. Note: <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>• Do not change the VTF Logo and the color scheme.</li><li>• You must keep the content of the post strictly professional.</li><li>• You must update the points and Images. Do not post the template without updating it.</li></ul>	<ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>• Key Learnings_1</li><li>• Key Learnings_2</li><li>• Key Learnings_3</li></ul>
----------	--	---

Step 2

Once you are happy with the Banner, Download it and save it as "Week_{#}_NetworkPost.png".

Make sure you download it as a PNG.

Note: The {#} stands in place of the week number you are currently in. So if you are in week 1 of your internship the file would say:

Week_1_NetworkPost.png

Learn, Test, and Share!

Step 3 a

Now Sign in and go to your home page then select "Photo."

Note: While I was here, I commented on and liked another intern's post. I suggest you get in the habit of doing this, but it is not mandatory.

The image displays a composite of two screenshots from a LinkedIn-like platform. On the left, a user profile for 'Chris Repich' is shown, detailing his role as Internship Manager at Virtually Testing Foundation. On the right, a feed post by 'Bhavesh Dhake' is displayed, featuring a 'CERTIFICATE OF COMPLETION' from 'Try Hack Me' for successfully completing the 'CompTIA Pentest+ Learning Path'. The post includes several interaction buttons: 'Photo', 'Video', 'Event', 'Write article', 'Like', 'Comment', 'Share', and 'Send'. A comment from 'Chris Repich' is highlighted with a red box, reading: 'Awesome Job! Love TryHackMe'. The entire composite is framed by a large red border.

Step 5	Once you are done with pasting either twitter post link or the linkedin post link. Click on submit.

Reminder

All Interns are required to participate in our Networking Skills Assignment. If you do not participate you will be removed from the internship and your access to our content will be revoked.

You must complete the following tasks and submit them in the Google Form:

- Create a LinkedIn OR Twitter post and submit the link
- Connect with 5 interns on LinkedIn
- Follow 5 interns on Twitter
- Connect and follow a Technical Page/Institute/Personality shared by us.

Note: Interns residing in Nigeria can submit Facebook links instead of twitter links.

There are a total of 4 tasks
